THE USEFUL TECH / FREE

The Siri AI Daily Ten

Two prompts a day for five days. By Friday you will have stopped opening a separate AI app on your phone.

Siri AI needs an iPhone 15 Pro, 15 Pro Max, or an iPhone 16 or newer, set to English. Invoke it by saying Hey Siri, holding the side button, or swiping down from the Dynamic Island. Every prompt here is written the way you would say it out loud, and every one of them works because Siri is already running and already looking at the same screen you are.

DAY 1

01 "Make this shorter without losing the ask."

Leave the cursor in any text field and tap Write with Siri on the keyboard. Works in Mail, Messages, Slack, WhatsApp, web forms. No copy, no app switch.

02 "Reply saying Tuesday does not work and offer Thursday or Friday morning."

A full draft from one sentence. In Mail and Messages, Apple says Siri reflects how you usually write to that specific person, down to punctuation and tone.

DAY 2

03 "What was the restaurant Priya recommended?"

Be deliberately vague. Describe what you remember rather than guessing a keyword, and let Siri work out whether it came by message, mail or a note.

04 "Find the wifi password I screenshotted."

Photo search by content, not date. The same trick finds your parking spot, a whiteboard, a medicine box, a receipt.

DAY 3

05 "Add this to my calendar."

Said while looking at an invitation. iOS 27 apps embed invisible annotations, so Siri reads real data rather than screenshotting your screen and guessing.

06 "Add these items to a new list called Groceries."

Turns a recipe or a school email on screen into a real Reminders list. The manual version of this is why nobody ever makes the list.

DAY 4

07 "Find the restaurant Shenaya sent me, get directions, and tell me how long it takes to walk."

Three apps in one sentence. Ask for the driving time afterwards and it holds the context, so you never repeat the name.

08 "What time should I leave to pick him up on Sunday?"

Needs the flight email, the calendar, your location and traffic together. This is the gap between apps where the old Siri fell apart.

DAY 5

09 “Pick the best three photos from the trip and send them to the family group.”

Siri finds them and stages the message. You confirm before anything sends. Faster than scrolling a grid and losing your place.

10 “Every evening, set tomorrow’s alarm based on my first calendar event, turn on Sleep Focus and dim the bedroom lights.”

Type this into Shortcuts, New Shortcut, Describe a Shortcut. Four actions across three apps, assembled for you. Needs an iPhone 15 Pro or newer.

There are 90 more.

The full pack has 100 prompts across ten situations, six rules that make any prompt work better, and an honest list of what Siri AI still cannot do. It is on Gumroad for $19, with free updates as iOS 27 fills in.

theusefultech.gumroad.com